

Classi-seal from Classic Marble

Classic Marble is a market leading family run business; with over 25 years experience in the bathroom industry as a manufacturer of the highest quality resin stone shower trays, and most recently the innovative Classi-Seal.

Classi-Seal is a double award winning flexible waterproof upstand system that completely eliminates the potential for water leakage. By providing a perfectly waterproof bonded seal around the bath or shower tray, this robust, cost-effective system can be fitted quickly and easily and is also incredibly versatile, being effortlessly manipulated around corners and against walls of uneven surface. Water leakage equals expensive, time consuming and inconvenient repair work, making Classi-Seal a desirable and affordable preventative measure that has already been a top seller in Ireland for over four years.

Glass act from Simpsons

For those who are tired of simple clear glass enclosures three new sophisticated glass shades – grey, bronze and green are now available in Simpsons Classic and Classic Mode Collections. These new colourways are designed to give extra privacy without resorting to mundane frosted finishes!

Frameless in design and offering the perfect answer to unusual shaped rooms, the TEN collection is revolutionising modern showering spaces. Formed from 10mm glass, the TEN shower screen collection is made to bespoke designs to give the freedom to create the perfect enclosure in whatever space is available.

With left or right hand opening as well as over-bath showering situations, the TEN collection represents versatile luxury showering. Sloping roofs are not a problem either as the TEN collection is available in a choice of eight angled cut panels. With the option of two installation styles – floor-mounted on a tray or wall-mounted for wet room use – there has never been a more flexible shower solution.

Utopia open space from Selecta

The Selecta Utopia Open Space is a frameless shower enclosure featuring a large corner entry for easy access. There is a stabilising bar which secures the fixed panel for extra rigidity and also acts as a towel rail. The large showering area allows for a luxurious shower experience in a contemporary, minimalist design and is also large enough to be used as a drying and dressing area.

The curved panel is fixed and partially surrounds the custom tear-drop shaped shower tray. Visit www.selecta-showers.com to see our full range of showers.

A horizon worth getting up for by Cesana

The stunning new shower enclosure Horizon, from Italian shower manufacturer Cesana is one of a new breed of high-tech showers that offers designer looks and state of the art technology.

A striking horizontal shelf creates a design feature and also contains a multi-functional shower bar, a rain showerhead and a practical hand held shower, both with anti limescale systems. It also contains a diverter to select the showering option.

One special feature of the Horizon is that it allows the water temperature and flow to be regulated from both outside and inside the shower enclosure.

This model reflects the contemporary trend in shower enclosures, with a walk in area and no doors, yet protected by glass panels. It is another example of Cesana's attention to the evolution of the market and of its ability to interpret it in an innovative and creative way.

The contemporary profile is anodised aluminium with a bright finish, with the bar and details in chromed brass. The glass is tempered and 8mm thick.
